

IDS ARKANSAS – LITTLE ROCK

May 2021

Our Little Rock location is a proud new member of the Interior Design Society of Arkansas! We had the privilege of hosting an event in collaboration with IDS at our showroom in which we were able to connect with industry professionals and high-end designers that are fellow members. We brought in a representative from Caesarstone to present a CEU on a special 2021 trend - outdoor living. Karen Taylor spoke on the Solaris collection, by Caesarstone, which consists of three gorgeous materials suitable for outdoor use: Clearskies, Midday, and Palm Shade (pictured below). Since the start of the pandemic, individuals shifted their focus to expanding their current living situations to the outdoors after spending more and more time at home. With the cutbacks in spending on public experiences, they have been more focused on spending their money creating outdoor spaces that complement their home and lifestyle.
