

MIKADO LAUNCH EVENT

October 2022

As a stone, quartz, and porcelain distributor, it is important for us to keep up with the latest trends and innovations. This includes offering our customers as many brands and products as possible, so that you are never limited in creating your dream space. In theme with this core value, we are happy to announce we are now offering a new brand of quartz in our California markets called Mikado Quartz.

In October, our Modesto location held a launch event to show off the gorgeous new colors available by this brand. In order to really show its potential, we even installed a kitchen vignette using one of the designs so that you can get the full picture of what it would look like installed. We encourage you to stop by our showrooms to view these materials in person!
